

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN FOR 1881.

Prospectus. The National Republican begins the new year under new management and with new material.

It will be a stalwart Republican journal. It will be the best newspaper in the District of Columbia.

It will furnish during the session of Congress a satisfactory record of the proceedings, and will at all times give complete information of the official doings in all Departments of the Government.

It will give all interesting information that can be legitimately obtained concerning the intentions and policies of the ruling power.

In District affairs it will keep you in the best interests of the people upon whom favor it reposes, and will at all times co-operate with progressive citizens, without regard to their political predilections, who have measures to propose and advance for the improvement of the National Capital.

It will furnish a daily record of all the interesting social events of the city, making its society department a special feature.

It will give telegraphic news from all parts of the world reached by the wires, and in its editorials and foreign, domestic, and city news will keep pace with the times.

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN is published daily (Sundays excepted) by The National Republican Printing Company at 106 PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.

TERMS: One copy one year, $5.00. One copy one month, $1.00. Address: NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, Washington, D. C.

AMUSEMENTS. NATIONAL THEATRE—Goodwin's Frolics. FORD'S OPERA HOUSE—Comedietta "Gleite".

THE SENATE had a cold-water flood yesterday. It came in the shape of temperance petitions.

AS THE SESSION draws nearer to a close the danger of catching that peculiar disease known as the "Speaker's eye" seems more and more remote.

"BOX JOHN" is said to be the favorite expression just now. It is painted and embrodered on many fancy articles, handkerchiefs, boxes, fans, sachets, g-rt-rs, and wherever it looks pretty, or is available for ornament.

THIRTEEN THOUSAND one hundred and thirty-four immigrants arrived in the United States during January. If our population continues to increase in this ratio apportionment bills will become necessary each session.

NEW ORLEANS is said to be in danger of having a flood to which ours would be hardly a circumstance. But it is so singularly coincident with the consideration of the river and harbor bill that some people believe it to be a danger of the imagination rather than of fact.

A YOUNG MAN in New Hampshire is said to have died from the effects of licking postage-stamps. It has been observed that postage-stamps are not as wholesome as they are used to be.

THE LATEST outrage of combined capital upon the interests of the people is the "corner" in the provision market at Chicago. A ring of dealers is said to control 250,000 pounds of short ribs, 24,000 barrels of pork, and 10,000 tierces of lard, which they are holding for a technically called a "rise," but which is really a demand upon the suffering and hungry poor to pay the prices they choose to ask or go without.

SIXTY-THREE THOUSAND one hundred and thirty-four immigrants arrived in the United States during January. If our population continues to increase in this ratio apportionment bills will become necessary each session.

Ireland's Right of Revolution.

England goes on preparing her juggernaut for the Irish people. We heard a few weeks ago that she was preparing handbills and humane legislation together for her hated subjects in the Green Isle, and that she would first administer the scourge and then the sedative.

Now we hear of coercion only. Force without promise. With land laws which make life itself dependent upon the brutal caprice of the resident agent of the landlord, the Irish people are about as well treated as were formerly our negro slaves by a Yankee overseer in the prolonged slavens of the owner.

Mr. Gladstone's government may be hurrying on to destruction. There was much significance in the great meeting at Hyde Park on Sunday. There were assembled thousands of English workmen joining hands with Irish Land Leaguers, and addressed by Irish Home Rule members of Parliament.

Either these spoke so judiciously that the police sought in vain for a pretext for their arrest, or else there were too many English sympathizers with Ireland to make it safe to interfere. There are two Englands. One loves fair play, the other loves absolute power.

One is overbearing and insolent, the other is resentful and independent. One practices tyranny, the other resistance. One clings to the divine right of kings and the vested right of the nobility to all the soil, the other stirred by the story of Cromwell and the philosophy of Herbert Spencer.

The long struggle for civil liberty goes on, each combatant of the centuries that are past still represented in the present. Privilege overrides rights, and in each struggle men who were on the side of justice are won over to the side of power.

The old and the new struggle with each other there as here. The right of a whole people to subsist from the soil they cultivate is face to face with a system which places ownership in the soil higher than God's right to create human beings thereon.

The struggle of England to sustain her will against the direst needs of human kind is as hopeless as would be an effort to change the course of the stars. Human destiny will not be shaped by cobweb laws.

There are desperate men in revolution Ireland, who have nothing to lose. The rights of property are to them but a sound, which is drowned by the cries of their wives and children. Sharp-visaged children of Irish parents there are in our own land, whose faces are written with terribly legible hand the hunger and suffering of many generations in the home of their parents.

The Signal Corps.

A Breeze About Clerks Parading—The Remedy for It. The notice attracted to the Signal Corps by the recent breeze about the parade of clerks in the Signal Corps, has attracted the attention of the law-makers and the public generally to the anomalous position of that corps and some features of its management.
